

ABSTRACT

Thiophosphine compounds (also named phosphine sulfide compounds) and their use for making polymerizable compositions which after polymerization
5 give optically transparent articles, such as ophthalmic lenses, having improved mechanical and optical properties and in particular having an improved UV cut.